

Part 2

Profile His Attachment Style

The ten questions that decode how he handles closeness, conflict, distance and the future. The same quiz you took, turned around.

from the book Clingy No More! by Grace Groath

before you start

Two nervous systems, one relationship

You already have your own profile in your inbox. This is the other half of the picture. Attachment is never a solo story: what you feel in a relationship depends on your system and on the one it is dancing with. Knowing his style does not excuse his behavior. It explains it, and that changes what you do next.

In the book, this quiz comes right after Part 1, so that the whole journey is built on where you both actually stand. Here it is, exactly as it appears there.

Instructions: Now, consider your partner's behavior and responses in your relationship. Answer the following questions to get an insight into their attachment style.

answer for the person you have in mind right now: current partner, ex, the one you are still texting. it works for all of them.

A few things that help:

Tick what he does, not what he says he does or what you hope he will do. If two answers seem true, choose the one that describes him on an ordinary week, not on his best day.

You can print these pages or just keep a tally on your phone. At the end, count your letters and read the interpretation on the last page.

part 2

Discover your partner's attachment style

1 How does your partner typically respond to emotional closeness?

- ☐ A They embrace it and enjoy being close.
- ☐ B They are comfortable with it but sometimes need space.
- ☐ C They seem to crave it but can also be very anxious about it.
- ☐ D They avoid it and seem uncomfortable with too much closeness.

2 How does your partner handle conflicts in the relationship?

- ☐ A They approach conflicts calmly and seek resolution.
- ☐ B They address conflicts but sometimes avoid difficult discussions.
- ☐ C They get very emotional and often need reassurance.
- ☐ D They tend to withdraw or shut down during conflicts.

3 When your partner is busy or away, how do they usually communicate with you?

- ☐ A They keep in touch regularly and reassuringly.
- ☐ B They communicate, but sometimes they take their time.
- ☐ C They might be inconsistent, sometimes over-communicating, other times distant.
- ☐ D They often don't communicate much and seem to need a lot of personal space.

4 How does your partner react to your expressions of need or vulnerability?

- ☐ A They are supportive and respond to my needs.
- ☐ B They are generally supportive, though sometimes they struggle with it.
- ☐ C They often get anxious or feel overwhelmed by my needs.
- ☐ D They seem uncomfortable or may even withdraw when I express vulnerability.

5 Does your partner often need reassurance in the relationship?

- ☐ A No, they seem secure and confident in our relationship.
- ☐ B Occasionally, but it's not a frequent issue.
- ☐ C Yes, they often seek reassurance about my feelings and our relationship.
- ☐ D Rarely, they tend to avoid discussing their feelings altogether.

part 2

Questions 6 to 10

6 How does your partner express their emotions?

- ☐ A Openly and honestly, they are in touch with their feelings.
- ☐ B They express emotions, but sometimes they hold back.
- ☐ C They express emotions intensely and may need a lot of support.
- ☐ D They tend to keep their emotions to themselves and rarely express them openly.

7 When planning for the future, how does your partner involve you in their plans?

- ☐ A They include me and value my input.
- ☐ B They discuss it with me but also value their independence.
- ☐ C They seem unsure and often seek my approval or reassurance.
- ☐ D They often avoid making long-term plans or involving me deeply.

8 How does your partner handle time apart from you?

- ☐ A They are fine with it and use the time for personal growth or hobbies.
- ☐ B They manage it well but check in regularly.
- ☐ C They often become anxious or worried when we're apart.
- ☐ D They prefer being apart and may even seem relieved.

9 How does your partner respond to affection and physical closeness?

- ☐ A They enjoy it and reciprocate affection warmly.
- ☐ B They are comfortable with it but sometimes need their space.
- ☐ C They crave it but can also become clingy or anxious.
- ☐ D They seem uncomfortable with too much affection or closeness.

10 Reflecting on your partner's past relationships, how did they describe them?

- ☐ A As generally positive and growth-oriented.
- ☐ B As mixed, with some good experiences and some difficulties.
- ☐ C As filled with anxiety or instability.
- ☐ D As confusing, difficult, or characterized by distance.

count your letters

Results interpretation

A secure -----	B secure / mildly avoidant -----	C anxious -----	D avoidant / disorganized -----
-----------------------------	--	------------------------------	---

Mostly A's

Your partner likely has a Secure Attachment style. They are comfortable with closeness and trust in the relationship.

Mostly B's

Your partner may have a Secure or Mildly Avoidant attachment style. They generally feel secure but may prefer some distance.

Mostly C's

Your partner likely has an Anxious Attachment style. They often feel insecure and seek reassurance in relationships.

Mostly D's

Your partner may have an Avoidant or Disorganized Attachment style. They struggle with intimacy and may avoid closeness or emotional connection.

a tie? in my experience the letter that stings a little is the honest one.

Now put the two profiles side by side. Anxious next to avoidant is the most common pairing among the women who write to me, and it is the one the whole book is built around: two nervous systems running two different programs, each one triggering the other. Once you can see the pattern, you stop taking his distance personally, and you stop trying to fix it by getting closer.

what comes next

Everything I learned is in the book

This quiz is the doorway. The book is what happens after it: how the anxious system works, why it reacts the way it does to silence and distance, and the techniques that helped me switch it off, one at a time, with journaling and exercises you can actually do.

Clingy No More!

How to transform your anxious attachment style into a secure relationship.

Get it on Amazon

The Exercise Book

The companion workbook: the exercises, one page at a time.

Get it on Amazon

and if you want to see how these two styles play out in real chats, real silences and real comebacks, that is what my videos are for.

— grace

Educational content, not a substitute for therapy. If you are in distress, please reach out to a mental health professional. © 2026 Grace Groath. Quiz text from the book Clingy No More!